

"I've always been incredibly musically challenged and I've learned more about music from Gary in the past 4 months than I have from the 8 years of music lessons and teachers I'd been through beforehand. Unlike most instructors who use generic lessons, he really tailors each lesson to fit each individual student and makes it incredibly easy to understand. It's really a waste of time to go to someone who might charge less and love guitar but not really know how to teach someone how to play and understand it (I've tried it and I just ended up frustrated and discouraged). You'll end up spending way more time (and eventually a lot more money) in the long run going to someone like this than someone like Gary who can teach you the same stuff in a fraction of the time. He's tremendously patient and each lesson gives you a dvd recording of each lesson and custom exercises with backing tracks that go with them. More importantly though, he is GREAT at teaching and is also really enthusiastic about it. Considering all of the above, Gary's lessons are definitely the best investment and value you could possibly get around town. Instructors like him are hard to come by."
